ALLIANCE
FOR PUBLIC
TRANSPORTATION

Purpose

To promote and advocate for a regional transportation system in Central Texas that improves our regional connectivity, sustainable mobility, quality of life, economic development, affordability, and the environment.

The Alliance for Public Transportation

- Representative of many sectors of the Central Texas region, including business, non-profit, government, education and environmental.
- Regionally balanced to include Bastrop, Caldwell, Hays, Travis and Williamson counties.
- Membership forged by commitment to a common purpose; focus on meaningful activities and outcomes.

2009 Priority Activities

- Connect the Dots. Challenge Central Texans to make public investments that provide for a more sustainable future, equitable growth and economic development.
- Building awareness and participation. Continue the successful work with major employers on growth and transportation issues. Partner with the Downtown Austin Alliance, cities, and stakeholder groups in the region to build public participation. Create, encourage, and support consensus-building community activities.
- Encouraging progress towards planning for and establishing a regional transportation network. Support Mayor Wynn's challenge for regional rail and subsequent CAMPO Transit Working Group efforts. Encourage responsible planning and sustainable implementation in the region by transportation agencies.
- Growing Alliance membership and capacity. Our members do the work; they are our strength. The City of Austin, Travis County, Seton Family of Hospitals, the Austin Chamber of Commerce and many more organizations are already active members. A4PT also is energetically reaching out to organizations in Bastrop, Caldwell, Hays, Travis, and Williamson Counties; and to individual citizens.
